mission & vision

We envision theater not as a passive experience, but as a vehicle for heightened involvement for artist and audience alike. By combining different artistic mediums, nourishing local talent, producing provocative work, and facilitating audience engagement, we seek to revitalize live performance for a new era.

The word Bricolage means “making artful use of what is at hand.” What excites us is the connection and interaction between seemingly disparate elements, and the potential for these components to resonate as one cohesive event. “What’s at hand” is Pittsburgh’s changing landscape, its plentiful human and material resources, and the salient political, cultural, and ethical issues we encounter and react to each day. Our approach encourages artists to take the creative risks necessary to create full-blooded, high-quality theatrical experiences that challenge audiences to engage in new ways, react, and express openly their opinions about our work – to have a stake in the creative discussion.

CARNegie Museums of PITTSburgh

Two of the four Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh, the museums now known as Carnegie Museum of Art and Carnegie Museum of Natural History were founded in 1895 by the industrialist and philanthropist Andrew Carnegie to benefit the people of Pittsburgh by providing access to the best in the arts and the natural sciences. CMOA champions creativity through experiences that welcome, inspire, challenge, and inform. Its world class collection of more than 30,000 works focuses on art, architecture, photography, and design from the 19th century to the present. Known widely for the Carnegie International, its signature survey of the best in contemporary art, CMOA has a long history of presenting new works that expand and transform audiences’ relationships with art. As one of the nation’s largest natural history museums, CMNH increases understanding of the natural world and human cultures through research; disseminating knowledge about crucial issues such as climate change, evolution, extinction, and habitat loss; field studies; and presenting exhibits and programs that inform and engage. Its extraordinary collection numbers more than 22 million objects and specimens and spans a wide range of disciplines.

Recognizing—as Andrew Carnegie did—that art and science are powerful tools for examining the universe around us, Carnegie Nexus leverages the collective material and intellectual assets of the four Carnegie Museums through live performances, the visual and literary arts, and thoughtful conversations that animate the pressing issues of our time.

Gab Cody (Lead Writer / Co-Creator) creates immersive, devised, and site-specific work as well as theater meant-to-be-performed in a theater. She serves as lead writer and co-creator on the immersive urban adventures STRATA and OjO (Bricolage Production Company) produced in Pittsburgh and at La Jolla Playhouse’s Without Walls Festival. Ms. Cody is also an award-winning filmmaker and Pittsburgh regional rep for the Dramatists Guild. She has been a guest lecturer at Carnegie Mellon University, Stanford University and the College of William and Mary. Her plays have been staged at the La Jolla Playhouse, Quantum Theatre, Pittsburgh Playhouse, August Wilson Center, Williamstown Theatre Festival, New York City’s New Dramatists and Urban Stages, Coconut Grove Playhouse, and at theaters in Seattle, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Sydney, Australia. Over the past three years she has served as a panelist and moderator at the TCG national conference and the Dramatists Guild national conference, leading conversations on immersive and site-informed theater. Next up her non-traditional documentary theater work, Inside Passage premiers at Quantum Theatre.

Jeffrey Carpenter (Director / Co-Creator) founded Bricolage Production Company in 2001. As the company’s Artistic Director, he produced and co-created the immersive experience DODO. In 2015, he spearheaded the immersive project SAINTS TOUR, a bus tour in the town of Braddock, PA. In 2014, he received a Visionary Artist award from The Pittsburgh Foundation to create OjO: The Next Generation in Travel, featured in La Jolla Playhouse’s 2015 Without Walls Festival. In 2012, he led the creation of the immersive work STRATA, named Top Production of the Year by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and featured on the cover of American Theatre. He conceived, produced and directed the Bricolage/Pittsburgh Filmmakers multi-media project In Service: Pittsburgh to Iraq, about the lives of local veterans returning from war, which was nominated for a Mid-Atlantic Emmy. He co-conceived the Midnight Radio series (now entering its 9th season) and the In The Raw: (R)evolution devised play festival. Other directing credits for Bricolage include Hunter Gatherers, Speech & Debate, Biedermann and the Firebugs, Troilus and Cressida, Peace, and Wild Signs.

Tami Dixon (Director / Co-Creator) joined Bricolage Production Company in 2005 and has created dozens of programs, written countless episodes of Midnight Radio, and spearheaded initiatives of inclusion and accessibility like 5th Wall and Between the Lines: Community Conversations around Racism in Pittsburgh. Ms. Dixon is a recipient of the TCG/Fox Foundation Resident Actor Fellowship, the Carol R. Brown Creative Achievement Emerging Artist Award from The Heinz Endowments and The Pittsburgh Foundation, the Frankel Award from City Theatre Company, and was named Performer of the Year by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. Most recently, she received the 2016 Tribute to Women Leadership Award for Creative Arts from the YWCA of Greater Pittsburgh. She is a Director and Creative Team member for Bricolage’s groundbreaking immersive works DODO, STRATA, Ojo: The Next Generation of Travel and the Immersive Encounters series. She served as writer and director of Welcome to Here. Bricolage’s first immersive experience for children with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD). Ms. Dixon is grateful for her DODO co-creators, District 5, DODO’s designers, for CMP - especially its security guards and custodians, for the DODO actors and crew, and for the amazing Bricolage staff who kept this bird aloft.

Sam Turich (Director / Co-Creator), a writer, director, actor, and activist, creates original plays, films, and immersive works. DODO is his third large-scale immersive with Bricolage. After working as a creative team member and director for STRATA and Ojo, he’s directed stage productions in New York, Pittsburgh, San Diego and at the Williamstown Theatre Festival. His theatre directing credits include: the world premieres of Gab Cody’s Fat Beckett with Quantum Theatre (Pittsburgh Post-Gazette 2011 Top Ten Production), The Magnificent Hour at the New York International Fringe Festival, and, at Gotham City Improv. Sam created Off the Top of Our Heads, winner of the 6th Big Apple Improv Festival and the title “Best Improv Group in New York.” He wrote and directed the short film “Mombies” and the feature Progression (progressionmovie.com), and directed live action sequences for the PBS Kids series “Daniel Tiger’s Neighborhood.” Sam is a graduate of Columbia University and the British American Drama Academy, and holds a Master of Fine Arts in Film and Digital Technology from Chatham University. He’s the Head of Education for Bricolage, managing in-school residencies during which local kids write and perform their own original Midnight Radio plays.

District 5 Sound is a collective comprised of Sarah Pickett, Christopher Evans and David Gotwald. The trio combine their years of experience in the disciplines of composition, production, teaching and mixing to create sonic environments of all varieties. Sarah’s composition work and sound designs have been heard around the country. Christopher is the sound supervisor for the Benedum Center. David spent 30 years mixing Broadway musicals and working in the great music venues of New York City.

Clear Story is pleased to build upon their history of collaboration with Bricolage and the Carnegie Museums of Pittsburgh. Clear Story immersed themselves with Bricolage for STRATA and served as the Carnegie Museum’s production partner for Strange Times, the inaugural multi-disciplinary performance series of the Carnegie Nexus initiative. The lighting design team for DODO was led by Rob Long and supported by Clear Story design and technology specialists Chris Michaels, Pete Milo, CJ McDermott, and Chris Craychee. Clear Story’s work bridges the disciplines of architecture, theatre, and fine art — designing with light and technology to create dynamic and memorable experiences.

Sarah Friedlander, originally from Northern Virginia, is an active dancer, artist, and choreographer in Pittsburgh, PA. She graduated from Point Park University in 2016 receiving a double major in both Dance and Arts Management. Sarah is an Event Staff and Box Office Assistant at the Kelly Strayhorn Theater, where she enjoys connecting with the vibrant community of talented artists. She has worked extensively with The Pillow Project, performing in various site specific works as well as conceptual dance pieces. Sarah continues dancing and performing in Pittsburgh as a freelance artist.

Sonja Gable, Originally from Johnstown, PA, is excited to be collaborating with Attack Theatre for her second season as a performer and teaching artist. As a performer, she has performed in Attack Theatre’s Some Assembly Required, I am Jonah, The Next Stop, Turandot. Sonja received her degrees of Dance and Early Childhood Education through Slippery Rock University. Within her dance training, Sonja has learned from and collaborated with Jump Rhythm Jazz, Teena Marie Custer, Ursula Payne, Tara Madsen Robbins, and Diavolo Dance Theatre. This season Sonja is honored to be a part of Bricolage’s production of DODO.

Tyler Ray Kendrick was raised in Jamestown NY but moved to Pittsburgh five years ago to pursue his passion for comedy and acting. Tyler is known as one of Pittsburgh’s up and coming improvisers and stand-up comedians as a finalist in the 2017 Pittsburgh Comedy Festival Amateur Stand-up Competition. He regularly performs at the Unplanned Comedy Warehouse as a member of the Unplanned Comedy Players with his improv troupe The Unwelcome Guests. Ultimately his goal is to host the Grammys, his own late night talk show, as well as star in a Hollywood buddy cop movie along side Tracy Morgan. You can hear Tyler’s sultry voice in his improvised character podcast called Pure Awkwardness with Tyler Ray Kendrick at unplannedcomedy.com/pods.

Tal Kroser is a Pittsburgh native and recent graduate of Point Park University with a BFA in Acting. Favorite roles from the conservatory include Stanley Kowalski in A Streetcar Named Desire, Vic in Our Lady of 121st St. and Black Fox in Bloody Bloody Andrew Jackson. While at PPU, Tal founded his own immersive children’s theatre company called Lost Boys Productions, where he wrote and directed a variety of plays in a variety of spaces. He is thrilled to now be learning from the best, and can hardly express his gratitude and respect to the Bricolage creative team for putting together such a fantastically creative piece of art.

Watipaso Kumwenda was born and raised in Malawi, “the warm heart of Africa.” The “travel bug” she inherited eventually led her to study abroad: she has degrees in Medical Engineering and Biomedical Technology from Schools in Wales and the U.S. She has taken classes in Practical Theatre and participated in various performances while studying at Penn-State. This will be her debut with Bricolage.
Hazel Carr Leroy earned an M.F.A. in acting/directing from the University of Oklahoma and a Ph.D. in theatre history from the University of Pittsburgh. She is an adjunct professor of theatre history at Point Park University’s Conservatory of Performing Arts. In 2016, Hazel played the title role in Shakespeare’s Julius Caesar for Throughline Theatre. She has appeared in such original plays as Brian Pope’s Elephant Walk, Molly Rice’s Watch, Nik Nemec’s Home Again, and C. S. Wyatt’s A New Death. Hazel performed in Gab Cody’s Wrong Place/Wrong Time for Bricolage’s BUS 11. She has happily puzzled over her quantum superposition ever since.

Michael McBurney has never met a polar bear in person, but feels certain it would be both wondrous and terrifying. He has appeared previously with Bricolage in Yinz’t Scrooged and BUS 11, and has worked with several other companies locally, including Throughline Theatre Company, Alarum Theatre, PICT, No Name Players, Carlow University Theatre Group, the Duquesne Red Masquers, and the Summer Company at Duquesne. He also performs regularly with the short-form improv teams 8-Bit and Penny Arcade out of Arcade Comedy Theater, which just recently moved to a wonderful new location neighboring Bricolage.

José Pérez IV is a recent graduate of Pitt’s MFA Performance Pedagogy program; BFA in Drama from NYU’s Experimental Theatre Wing. A certified Advanced Actor Combatant, José now teaches stage combat and acting in the Pittsburgh area. Additionally, he works as a Standardized Patient, portraying medical cases for health professionals in training. As a creator of theatre in unconventional locations, José has made a show in a moving car, in a shower, as a jogging aide, and he even made a fake audio tour for the Met Museum of Art NYC. josepereziv.com

Simon A. Phillips is a graduate of Kennesaw State University in Dance and Psychology. He was born and raised in Macon, Georgia where he was trained in various styles of dance including West African, ballet, modern, contemporary, jazz, tap, and Latin. Simon’s training has provided him the opportunity to perform with multiple companies in Atlanta, Miami, and New York. Simon most recently joined Pittsburgh’s Attack Theatre as an apprentice under the direction of Peter Kope and Michele de la Reza.

jomo ray. NJ born & raised, began his theatre career in Chicago, was a Boston-based actor and teacher, a NY-metro area teaching & visual artist, as well as writer, producer, and director before coming to Pittsburgh in late 2006. After a long absence from acting, he’s appeared locally with Little Lake Theatre (Dividing the Estate: Our Town), the New Works Festival (Twilight: The Old Maid and Her Old Goose), Theatre Festival in Black & White (Vows), Entertainment Consortium (Ruined) and Caravan Theatre (Lower Ninth). This is his debut with Bricolage.

Kelsey Robinson is tickled Robin’s egg blue to be making her Pittsburgh re-nesting debut in DODO. Steeltown credits include Sarah in Ragtime and Lady in Blue at Point Park’s For Colored Girls…. Mezzo #2 in PICT’s Wild Tales and City Theater’s Young Playwrights Festival. Vocal highlights: joining The Collegiate Choraleatre at Carnegie Hall and intimate venues across Argentina and Colombia. Kelsey can be seen in Lenka’s “Everything at Once” video also aired as a global Microsoft campaign and James Franco’s staged reading of McClure’s The Beard for Flaut Magazine. Lately Kelsey’s been performing in indy musical theater productions with the homies in NY. Gratitude to her family; blood and chosen. IG:kwjumper

Emilie Sullivan is an actress, musician, and writer, currently living in a tiny (and possibly haunted) apartment. When not focusing on artist endeavors, she can be found working at the Oakland Bakery, or running long distances before sunrise. DODO is her debut on Pittsburgh’s professional theatre scene and she couldn’t be more excited…unless there were kittens involved.

Carrie Tongarm is thrilled to return to the world of theater after a 15 year hiatus and to work with such a talented team! A lawyer by day, she also enjoys spending time with her amazing wife, Rebecca, and three kids: Joe, Milo, and Emma. In her spare time (what is that?), Carrie enjoys wine, food, festivals, music, music festivals, food festivals that involve music, and wine festivals involving food and music. Eternal gratitude to Gab, Sam, Jeff, and Tami for trusting her with this extraordinary piece of work. Much love to Rebecca who makes everything in life possible.

Bricolage is grateful to the following performers who joined the cast and crew of DODO after its opening weekend and without whom this production would not be possible:

Zanna Fredland is a huge fan of schedules and order. When she’s not working check-in at DODO or processing voters on Election Day, she can probably be found singing or acting somewhere in Pittsburgh. Some favorite roles include Aldonza in Man of La Mancha, Lilli Vanessi in Kiss Me, Kate, and Dorothy Brock in 42nd Street. Zanna is a member of the Professional Core of the Mendelssohn Choir of Pittsburgh and has been a soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra. A Pittsburgh native, Zanna is a graduate of Carnegie Mellon University and Rice University’s Shepherd School of Music.

Parag S. Gohel is a Pittsburgh-based artist, performer, director, producer, and educator, whose previous Bricolage credits include: Welcome to Here (Don Key), BUS 8, 9, 10, 11, and OJQ. He is currently an adjunct faculty member at University of Pittsburgh teaching Intro to Performance. Parag is also a Teaching Artist for Bricolage’s Education Program and looks forward to assistant directing Midnight Radio: A Christmas Story later this season.
Andrea Kozai began her training in Boulder, CO and completed her bachelor’s degree with a double major in Dance and Exercise Science at Skidmore College. Upon graduation she moved to New York City and worked as a freelance dancer, performing across New York and touring nationally with companies including Riedel Dance Theater, Ariel Rivka Dance, and Valerie Green/Dance Entropy. Andrea moved to Pittsburgh in 2011, where she has performed with Texture Contemporary Ballet, Attack Theatre, and Bricolage Production Company. DODO is Andrea’s fourth production with Bricolage, and she is thrilled to be a part of this inimitable cast. In her spare time, Andrea serves as chair of the Development Committee for the International Association for Dance Medicine & Science (www.iadms.org) and teaches wellness workshops for dancers (www.virtuosofit.com).

David E. Malehorn, PhD (UIUC, Microbiology, ’89) is a research technician and laboratory manager at the University of Pittsburgh, and also a staff member of The Pittsburgh Cultural Trust. He contributes regularly to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, and he was also recently published in “The Love of Baseball: Essays by Lifelong Fans” (McFarland). Dr. Malehorn performs occasionally at The Moth- Pittsburgh story slams. He appeared most recently in Bernie at the 2017 Pittsburgh New Works Festival. Past appearances with Bricolage include STRATA, BUS11, and WordPlay. He lives in Morningside with his very tolerant wife Lois.

Johnny Terreri is a Pittsburgh-based performer with several immersive theater credits under his belt. You may have encountered him while you were without sight amongst chickens and street vendors in Bricolage’s OJO in 2014. Perhaps he poured you a drink from the bar while wearing a donkey mask in a pop-up immersive in their downtown theater for IE2. If you missed those, there’s still a chance that you did the Time Warp with him in a garage beneath a sex shop in Munhall for an immersive production of The Rocky Horror Show.

Cory F. Goddard (Project Coordinator) is originally from Ohio and went to Baldwin Wallace College in Cleveland. He has been making theatre in Pittsburgh for the last 13 years now. He has worked with Quantum, PICT Classic Theatre, The REP, Kinetic Theatre, Texture Contemporary Ballet, Kelly Strayhorn, and as always, loves working with Bricolage. Museums are bizarre, magical places and he has relished making something bizarre and magical in this place over the last couple weeks. He would like to thank: Hank, Rebekah, George, Vicky, Alicia, Phill, Liz, Gianni and The Wetness.

Hank Bullington (Scenic Designer/Technical Director) is a Pittsburgh based freelance Scenic and Video designer. Who, as always, is excited to be working with Bricolage and this incredible team of people once again! Hank’s recent design credits include: Scenic Design, Mr. Burns, A Post Electric Play (12 Peers Theater). Scenic and Video Design, Pittsburgh Festival Opera 2017 Summer Season. Scenic design, Midnight Radio: Night Of The Living Dead N’at and The 2016 Holiday Spectacular (Bricolage). Assistant Scenic Design and Assistant Technical Director, Enter The Imaginarium. (Black Brick Productions). Scenic and Video design, Young Playwrights Festival (City Theatre). Scenic Design. The Birds (12 Peers Theatre).

Anton Raphael Miriello (Props Designer/Engineer) (Mr Arm) uses his nefarious talents to create unusual inventions, sculptures, effects, vehicles, and experiences. He is the contraptioneer for the escape room, Enter the Imaginarium and owner of the modern day wunderkammer, Trundle Manor; a self-proclaimed tourist trap comprised of his private collection of strange objects and bizarre creations. With the partnership of his wife, Rachel Rose Miriello, they have made Trundle Manor a world all their own and through giving tours and hosting private events, The Manor has become a Pittsburgh gem which only the most tenacious have had the pleasure of surviving.

Angela Baughman (Sound Engineer) is endlessly fascinated by the murky line between music and noise, and thrilled to be on the DODO team. She lends her sound design and technical skills to Bricolage, City Theatre, Front Porch Theatricals, the University of Pittsburgh, Prime Stage Theatre, Kinetic Theatre, Hiawatha Project, and others. She is currently designing City Theatre’s Young Playwrights Festival, and creating live Foley for Prime Stage’s All Quiet on the Western Front. Angela made her way to Pittsburgh after earning a degree in music production and engineering from Berklee College of Music. You can visit her online at thatsoundsgirl.com.

Madison Hack (Costume Designer) made the trek from Dallas to Pittsburgh after graduating from Oklahoma State University with a BA in Theatre in 2014. Since then, she has gone from costume shop over-hire at City Theatre to (starting this season) Costume Shop Manager. Madison has worked with 12 Peers Theater Company as their resident costume & props designer on shows such as The Birds, Detroit, and Mr. Burns: A Post-Electric Play. When she is not running around a theatre, you can find Madison at home with her boyfriend Matt, & their cat, Piper & dog, Nala watching HGTV & eating Ritz Bits.

Katy Click (Production Assistant) is excited to be working on her first production with Bricolage. She most recently stage managed Annie, The Musical at The Strand Theater. Other production credits include Big Fish, Violet (Front Porch Theatricals), Mr. Burns: a post-electric play (12 Peers Theater), Sweeney Todd, Intermezzo, If I Loved You... (Pittsburgh Festival Opera), Peribañez, The River, The Man Who Mistook His Wife for a Hat, and Collaborators (Quantum Theatre). Katy holds a BA from Allegheny College in Meadville, PA.

Katie Colwell (Production Assistant) has no words to describe her gratitude for the opportunity to work on such a relevant piece of Theatre. Hailing originally from Pittsburgh, she is a recent grad of Point Park University in Stage Management. She would like to thank everyone who made this experience unforgettable.
Support for DODO has been provided by: The National Endowment for the Arts, Clear Story, District 5 Sound, & The Opportunity Fund.

We are so grateful to the individuals, families, foundations, and corporations that donate to Bricolage. Our success is due in large part to your support.
