

Audition for Bricolage!

Bricolage Production Company is holding Non-Equity auditions for a one-night only immersive

We are holding Non-Equity auditions for a one-night only commissioned immersive event. This is a paid gig that will consist of a short rehearsal process, culminating in a private event at a local historic site. Rehearsals and performance will take place in February 2020.

We are looking for performers comfortable with both improvisation and heightened text. The ability to engage with strangers, the capacity to hold court with authority and having an interest in history is an advantage.

About the Audition:

Auditions will be held on December 16th at our downtown theater. Please prepare a speech from an historic figure of your choice. You may also be asked to engage in a short improvised scene.

If you have any questions or would like to schedule an audition appointment please send your name, phone number, and preferred audition time (15 minute slots) to Michael at michael@bricolagepgh.org.

Bricolage is an equal opportunity employer and we encourage artists of all abilities and backgrounds to apply.
